Brian graduated from the University of Malta with a BA (Hons) degree in Accountancy in 1988.

In 1992, he started his own practice as a sole practitioner gradually developing into a medium sized firm. Brian's visionary capabilities have helped shape the organisation and nurture it into the competitive and leading organisation it is today. His drive and business perception led him to join the Nexia International network in 2007 to enable the organisation expand its services internationally. This move has served the firm well and as a result, it has experienced marked growth both on the local front as well as globally where it has also won international awards. Brian's strengths lie in his acumen to grasp complex business situations or problem areas and effectively devise salvage strategies that bear tangible results. He is recognised for his ability to take decisions timely and effectively enabling clients achieve growth in a profitable manner. Core to this success are also his reputable time management skills and competitive yet professional respecting approach whilst retaining a people friendly character.

As the firm's managing partner, Brian is responsible for the firm's strategy and business development, is an audit and advisory partner and a director on all the firm's entities. He has regularly served as an advisor to various public and private entities and presently leads a number of assignments assisting clients to obtain financing and growing their businesses both locally and internationally. He is a fellow of the Malta Institute of Accountants.
